Elevation profile

2143 m – 3263 m

Between the Schrandele and the Hinterer Wilder Turm lies an unnamed point of 3264 m, which can be reached on skis from the Verborgen-Berg-Ferner almost to the very top. A worthwhile, little-frequented alternative to the Wildes Hinterbergl – with glacier terrain but no climbing.

Route description

Franz-Senn-Hütte → Abzweigung Berglasferner

0,0–2,5 km · 2,5 km · ↑ 130 m ↓ 0 m · 45 min · Winter · L (SAC ski touring scale)

From the Franz-Senn-Hütte, follow the mostly groomed, pole-marked track to the head of the valley.

Abzweigung Berglasferner → Gletschervorfeld Alpeiner Ferner

2,5–3,5 km · 1,1 km · ↑ 280 m ↓ 20 m · 55 min · Winter · WS (SAC ski touring scale)

From the head of the valley, climb on the right (facing uphill) over the moraine slopes to about 2400 m. Cross the Alpeiner Bach and make a broad right-hand arc up onto the glacier forefield of the Alpeiner Ferner.

Gletschervorfeld Alpeiner Ferner → der Unbenannte (3265m)

3,5–6,8 km · 3,3 km · ↑ 740 m ↓ 0 m · Winter · WS (SAC ski touring scale) · ZS (SAC ski touring scale)

From the junction, head west and climb about 100 metres in height to the moraine. At the signpost, enter the hollow behind it and follow this south-west until the view opens out again into the upper Alpeinertal. Head west towards the Verborgen Bergferner to about 2900 m.

At about 2900 m leave the Turmscharten track: instead of continuing north-west, keep left (facing uphill) and ascend beside the prominent rocks into the broad hollow below Schrandele. Continue over increasingly steep slopes and through a prominent narrow section (skis often carried) to the saddle between Schrandele and point 3265 m. From there, reach the highest point in a few minutes – depending on conditions, the last few metres on foot.
